

Bike trip to Odense and back

OPTION 1:

THE DIRECT ROAD (Vissenbjerg-Odense and back approx. 35 km).

A bike trip from Vissenbjerg to Odense can be made very simple and safe: Find the Odense-Middelfartvejen (road No. 161 at Vissenbjerg Storkro) and bike along the cycle path all the way towards Odense. About half-way towards Odense, after the traffic light in Blommenslyst, you will see the church spire in Odense. The road to Odense can not be more direct!

Advantages of the trip:

Direct, fast and safe (bike path). Take this route if you want to experience as much as possible in Odense.

Disadvantages of the trip:

Traffic noise from the trafficked Odense- Middelfartlandevej.

OPTION 2:

Small detours towards Odense, along signposted bike routes (No. 79, 6 and 75); total length approx. 45 km.

From Vissenbjerg Storkro, bike down the Odense-Middelfart road (road No. 161). Bike 500 m, turn to the left, follow Hestehavevej. Now you are on the signposted bike route No. 79. Along quiet municipal roads bike to Langesø, a beautiful lake with the estate Langesø, which is known for Christmas tree production, and annual fair in the autumn for professionals. Who work with Christmas trees and spruce production. Langesø is also a popular excursion spot for people from Odense, both summer and winter. At Langesø, bike route no. 79 ends. However, it leads into the signposted bike route No. 6. Follow the route to the right towards Odense. A little further inward towards Odense (in Korup) is the bike route on the "Langesø-stien", a beautiful, abandoned railway line (Odense-Brenderup), which is gone from road traffic etc. Bike route 6 leads you to Odense City (Odense Railway Station Center), where you meet "Byens Bro" (the "City's Bridges") which leads over the railyard down to the harbour of Odense with for example the visitable Nordatlantisk Hus (North Atlantic House). (If you want little longer bike trip, a bike trip from Odense harbour to Stige (and possibly longer) is recommended. Stay on the western side of Odense harbour (signposted bike route No. 32), then you also get as far as the eye and the forces can reach.

The return trip can be taken on the signposted bike route 75. At Frøbjerg Bavnehøj (Fyn's highest point 131 AMSL) you must catch route 79 (towards Langesø), then you return to the Odense-Middelfart road and follow the road (No. 161) along the cycle path approx. 1.6 km, then you return at Vissenbjerg Storkro.

Advantages of the trip:

Quiet municipal roads and a somewhat abandoned railway-path provide good nature experiences and reasonably safe bike trip. You can also follow the signposted bike routes all the way (No. 79, 6, and 75) - not No. 75 all the way home if you choose a shorter route home from Odense though.

Disadvantages of the trip:

If the intention is to experience as much as possible in Odense, then you should consider the fastest cycle route to Odense ("OPTION 1" above)

OPTION 3:

A small abbreviation of option 2.

NB! If you want a slightly shorter return trip from Odense, do the following: Follow bike route No. 75 out of Odense City. On the outskirts of the city, you pass the ring road (Ring O2). In Roerskov Havekoloni (allotment) you must find Odense Friluftsbad (open-air swimming pool) and the railway line Odense-Middelfart. Continue from the Friluftsbad (on your left hand) and the railway line (on your right hand) straight ahead. Now the railway line will appear on one side and the golf course on the other side of an O.K gravel path. The gravel path ends at Bavnedamvej, where you must keep to the right and bike across the railway bridge and continue to the T-junction at Elmelundsvej. Bike to the left. The second road on your right hand is Fårebjergvej. Follow the road and you end up on the Odense-Middelfart country road (road 161), where you bike to the left, return to Vissenbjerg.
